STANDARDIZED TESTS

Students are administered a variety of tests to evaluate student achievement, ensure accountability and inform instruction for educators. Tests used are:

- SAT
- PSAT
- AP (Advanced Placement) Exams
- P.A.A. (Prueba de Aptitud Académica)
- ELASH (English Language Assessment System for Hispanic
- Measures of Academic Progress (MAP)

MEASURES OF ACADEMIC PROGRESS- MAP

The MAP test is a computer-based assessment tool that provides valuable data for Mathematics, Reading, Language and Science. The test is given to all students from grades 1 to 9. The test is administered two times each academic year, once in the Fall and again in the Spring (with the exception of grade 1, which is administered only in the spring). Student data is regularly evaluated and used to track academic progress, determine curriculum effectiveness, and help further differentiate individualized instruction. Particular attention is focused on comparisons to normative data, as well as student growth from one testing period to the next.

Mathematics - Grades 1 - 9
Reading - Grades 1 - 9
Language usage - Grades 1 - 9

Science - Grades 3 - 9
Test results are shared with parents, students and teachers. All teachers have received training on how to access student scores and interpret results.

ADVANCED PLACEMENT

We currently offer nine AP courses in High School. Advanced Placement courses receive a weighted grade added to their final class average, not a GPA boost. Students who score 4 or above in an AP exam can earn university credits at certain universities.
